

Our personalised approach to learning

We place young people at the centre of their educational journey, this holistic framework supports young people's needs, strengths and aspirations – creating meaningful pathways to learning for those who haven't found success in traditional settings.

Curriculum

We balance essential academic foundations with experiential learning.

English: Practical skills and language development

Maths: Real-world mathematical applications

Outdoor Education: Experiential learning, development through challenge and team work

Food studies: Practical cooking skills, nutrition and independent living preparation

Personal & social development (PSD): Emotional intelligence, social skills and self-understanding

Duke of Edinburgh Award

Find out more

Get in touch or visit our website:

✉ info@releasingpotential.com

☎ 023 92 479762

🌐 www.releasingpotential.com

Scan this QR code to visit our website

Secondary education for young people yet to connect with their learning potential

A specialist school for those who haven't found their place in mainstream settings, combining academic study, outdoor learning and practical skills.

Student journey

We begin with a six-week assessment to create a personalised learning experience – creating a carefully designed pathway for each child.

How we work

We deliver education through diverse pathways, meeting each person where they are – to create opportunities for growth and success.

Who we are

Releasing Potential is an education charity made up of an independent school and an outdoor education alternative provision. Our team brings unique expertise and unwavering dedication to creating transformative learning experiences.

Glasser's 5 needs of learning

We believe meaningful learning emerges when these five fundamental human needs are thoughtfully addressed.

